

WEIGHT WAR!

NOT everyone is impressed with Jessica Simpson's supposed weight loss — namely, fellow Weight Watchers pitchwoman Jennifer Hudson.

According to a source, "Jennifer is frustrated with Jess and how she's handled her weight-loss fiasco. She thinks Jess' stab at dieting has been a colossal joke. Jen said that Jessica still looks fat despite an enormous $4 million incentive to lose weight."

Part of the American Idol alum's ire stems from her repeated efforts to help new mom Jessica drop the pounds. Jennifer phoned Jessica multiple times a day to offer pep talks and tips, even FedExing her diet diary to the Fashion Star mentor as motivation!

"Jennifer thinks Jess has been lazy and not serious about getting fit," says the gossip. "Jessica obviously didn't put in the work."

On Sept. 6 — just four days before Jessica's big reveal on Katie Couric's new talk show, where she claimed to have lost more than 40 lbs. — Jennifer tweeted sexy lingerie pictures of her toned body, and 80-lb. weight loss. "She's written Jessica off as a total mess," reveals the source.

"Jennifer is definitely having the last laugh." ★

Jessica hears from Jennifer:

YOU'RE A MESS!

Are You America's NEXT MILLIONAIRE?

"We all have the ability to live better," Woodgate says of achieving his goals. "I dreamed really big."

DO you dream about quitting your dead-end job? Are you inspired by superrich titans like Bill Gates, Martha Stewart and Warren Buffett? Do people call you a natural born leader? Then CEO Brad Woodgate wants to hear from you. With his new reality series, The Entrepreneur in Me, Woodgate is giving a handful of ordinary Americans the chance to become a business mogul.

"Creating my company was a gut-wrenching, life-changing experience," explains Woodgate, the head of Wellnx Life Sciences which has over $100 million in annual sales. "I want to give that opportunity to America." The contestant who proves to be the ultimate entrepreneur will win a job with a six-figure salary and a 25 percent stake in his new company. More than 100,000 people have already viewed The Entrepreneur in Me's video on YouTube — the show is still taking contestants, so go to the website TheEntrepreneurInMe.com to learn how you can apply. ★

